MELT (MRVED Educators Learning Together)

Date: January 21, 2013

Time: 8:40 a.m.—2:00 p.m.

Location: Lac qui Parle Valley High School

The MELT will be held on Monday, January 21, 2013 at the Lac qui Parle Valley High School. The day is set up very similar to last year with 4 different sessions offered throughout the day with a lunch break between session three and four. This year we have over seventy different classes to choose from. Some of the classes are offered more than once to allow for more flexibility in registering. We have a stellar line up of classes and presenters. The brochure explains what each class is about.

Please Note: If you are registering for a networking session, it is expected that you will bring ideas or resources to share pertinent to your topic. You will not be sitting and listening to a presenter at a networking session.

World Language Best Practice Meeting Update

The World Language educators gathered at the MRVED on Thursday, December 6 for their annual best practice meeting. The morning was spent discussing what personalized learning is as well as discussing relevant educational topics. Pizza Ranch was great and more ideas were shared around the table. In the afternoon the group shared ideas and resources and reviewed and revised their local standards.

TIP/RESOURCE OF THE WEEK

TIES Conference Wiki

The annual TIES technology conference will be held December 8-11. If you cannot attend the conference, but would still like access to some of the material, check out the conference wiki page. The wiki page is designed for presenters to place all handouts and materials into one place. Spend ten minutes browsing through the sessions and gathering some of the materials from those sessions. It's a great way to still get some good information without actually attending.

You can also follow along on Twitter by following the hashtag #ties12.

TECH TIPS

Screenleap:
Screenleap allows users to share what is on their screen with anyone quickly and easily. There is virtually no signup or registration required. With screenleap, you can share your screen to any device (iPad, Android, Desktop, Laptop, Smartphone). This would be a great alternative in a computer lab setting where students can see your every move without having to look at a screen in the front of the room. It could also be handy for any students who are homebound. It's free and easy to use!
